Lockridge Bound Over In Slaying

BUMPER TO BUMPER—Heavy automobile traffic lines the streets of Philadelphia as the transit strike involving 11,000 workers goes into its second day. The workers walked out at 12:01 a. m. yesterday, leaving 3,000,000 persons faced with a choice of walking or using their own cars. The cars lined up in the above picture are creeping down Chestnut street at a snail's pace. Union and Philadelphia Transportation company officials were to meet again today in an effort to end the strike.

Retail Meat Prices Take Sudden Drop

CHICAGO—(INS)—Retail meat prices across the nation were reported today to be dropping sharply in the wake of similar declines in the wholesale markets.

In International News Service survey showed that beef prices are leading the downward trend at the meat counters, while wholesale costs of good grade beef have dipped as much as 44 per cent from last summer's peak.

The American Meat institute reported that dressed beef is selling on the basic New York market for 22 per cent less than a month ago. Choice beef also has declined a similar amount in the last 30 days and is 41 per cent below the peak.

The price of sirloin steak in Chicago, for example, skidded at one chain store from 75 cents a pound at the beginning of the week to 63 cents a pound for the week end. It had been 69 cents a week ago.

Typical are other prices in the Chicago area, where all grades of round steak are 32 per cent below last summer and rib roasts are 25 per cent lower.

From coast to coast retail prices reflect a similar situation. New York, Boston, Atlanta, Philadelphia, St. Louis and San Francisco report the same story.

Although prices of beef have been the leader in the decline, pork also has dropped. Lamb, however, has held generally steady.

TO PROBE PRICES

Meanwhile, Chairman Maybank (D-SC), of the Senate banking committee, announced today that he will open an investigation into high bread and milk prices Feb. 21.

He said he wants to show that the farmer has not been responsible for the high prices at the corner grocery. He also wants to know, he said, why retail prices have not dipped along with commodity prices.

The price investigating subcommittee staff began arranging for witnesses — including New York Mayor William O'Dwyer on the milk situation—as the Bureau of Labor Statistics announced a new drop in wholesale prices.

Pope Acts Against Red Trial Heads

Excommunicates All Connected

ROME — (INS) — Pope Pius XII excommunicated today all Roman Catholics involved in the trail and conviction of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, placing them "beyond the pale" with others excommunicated earlier because of their part in his arrest.

The extreme church penalty, meted out in accordance with Canonic law, affects "all principal accomplices regardless of rank." It thus embraces participants from government officials down to the humblest guard.

In a simultaneous letter to the Catholic episcopate, the Pontiff called for worldwide prayers for Cardinal Mindszenty and authorized Catholic priests everywhere to celebrate two special masses for him on Passion Sunday, April 3.

Meanwhile, the United States and Britain charted a parallel course in making freedom of religion the fundamental issue in the war against the spread of communism.

The issue is being rapidly ready-made by the communist themselves. The outstanding case has been the conviction and life sentence of Cardinal Mindszenty by the Hungarian Red regime.

Another case is being developed by the Bulgarian government. In Sofia 15 pastors of Protestant denominations are soon to be brought to trial

Red Conspiracy In the U. S. A.

Plot Begins to Unfold For Atom Plans Theft

By ROBERT E. STRIPLING
(Edited by Bob Considine)

Russian agents and their American aides began stealing U. S. atomic energy and A-bomb secrets as early as the end of 1942, two and a half years before the first bomb was tested at Alamogordo,, N. M.

Despite the efforts of the FBI and the security forces of the Manhattan Engineering district, the $2,000,000,000 American scientific and engineering project was subjected to a consistent assault by Red agents, at least one of whom appeared to have an immunity against arrest.

No one can estimate how much information was milked from the bomb project. But this we do know of the conspiracy:

It was a much greater effort by the communists than their successful assault on the Canadian government's A-bomb secrets.

Key thief of U.S. atomic plans was Arthur Alexandrovich Adams, a figure in the Russian Revolution of 1905.

As the House un-American Activities committee report on his case eventually stated:

"Adam's admission to the United States for permanent residence was facilitated by the false statements of one Samuel Novick, who is presently the president of Electronics Corporation of America, and has been prominently connected with that company, and with the ownership thereof, since its creation in 1942.

"During the war, Electronics Corporation of America performed secret government contracts in the amount of some $6,000,000. For a time it was the only contractor engaged in producing certain highly secret items for use in radar installations."

Our generally ignored committee report of September, 1948, set forth the following:

At the end of 1942, near the time of the first successful operation of an atomic "pile"—at the University of Chicago—Soviet diplomatic forces actively

Confession Revealed In Court

Brother of Luckie Testifies

William Lockridge, 32, of 834 North Main street, was bound over to the county grand jury today in municipal court, charged with the Saturday night slaying of Clayton Luckie, 37, one-time colored Senior high athletic star.

Municipal Judge H. H. Schettler ordered Lockridge held without bond on the strength of testimony by Detective F. Bruce Friday that Lockridge admitted firing the fatal shots in the stairway of the Paradise club, 224½ North Main street.

Also counting strongly against Lockridge was testimony by Harold Luckie, the victim's brother, that he saw Lockridge shoot Clayton.

The courtroom was packed throughout the preliminary hearing and police officers were stationed at the door to keep other persons from overcrowding the room.

Prosecutor Harold Lutz called Dr. D. C. Lavender, county coroner to the stand. He testified Luckie died as the result of a bullet wound in the spinal column. The bullet entered through the mouth.

WATCHED FIGHT

Harold Luckie told how he and his brother went to the Paradise club last Saturday night and how Clayton got into a fight with Lockridge's brother-in-law, George Roth.

During the fight, Harold Luckie testified, Lockridge drew a gun. After a great deal of confusion, Harold said he went out of the club and was standing at the top of the stairs, leading from the Paradise club to the street.

He heard a woman scream and then Clayton came running out of the room and down the stairs. He said Lockridge followed, and although he did not see a gun in his hands as he passed him he later saw Lockridge standing three or four steps below him, "with a blazing gun in his hand."

Friday testified that Lockridge admitted the shooting. He said Lockridge went to the club with his brother-in-law, George Roth, and his sister, Ida.

Clayton Luckie, entering the club, greeted Mrs. Roth, who returned the greeting. When asked by her husband if she knew Clayton Luckie, she said she didn't.

Roth and Clayton Luckie became involved in a fight, Friday said, and after a short time, the battle was stopped, and Clayton Luckie left the club, heading downstairs. He was followed by Lockridge, who also started down the stairs.

Friday said Lockridge admitted that when Luckie tried to come back up the stairs, he (Lockridge) drew a .32-caliber, foreign make revolver and shot Clayton Luckie, who fell backwards.

Friday said that Lockridge, after allegedly shooting Luckie, returned to his home, hiding the murder weapon and a box of shells in an outhouse.

Spring-like Weather Back

Balmy, southern breezes gave Mansfield more spring-like weather today with the mercury expected to climb into the 50's by afternoon.

Cold weather which invaded the northwest from Canada today will spread over Ohio late Sunday, however, dropping the temperature to a more normal level, the forecasters said.

Meanwhile, cloudy and windy weather was predicted for tonight. Scattered showers are expected tomorrow.

The temperature stood at 46 in Mansfield at noon today after a low of 29 last night.

OPENS HER HEART—Eight-year-old Sandra Yoakam, 59 East Raleigh avenue, touches off the fund raising campaign of the American Heart association in Richland county by dropping her contribution in one of the big plastic hearts on display. $5,000 Heart Fund Sought In County

Monday, Valentine's day, will mark the opening of Richland county's campaign to raise $5,000 for 1949 National Heart week observance, Campaign Chairman Dr. Robert W. Wolford said today.

The week of Feb. 14 has been officially designated as National Heart week, Dr. Wolford said, and the national goal has been set at $5,000,000.

Seventy per cent of the money raised locally will be kept in the county fund, Dr. Wolford said, while the remainder will be sent to national headquarters for research.

The association plans to establish a heart clinic in Mansfield if sufficient funds are raised, it was said.

"With heart diseases taking an annual toll greater than the next five leading causes of death combined, the need for a complete diagnostic and treatment service in Richland county is of first importance to the community's health," Dr. Wolford said.

Bright red plastic hearts are being distributed to the various business places throughout the county as part of the local campaign.

Dr. Wolford said checks for the fund may be mailed to the Richland County Heart association at 55 Sturges avenue, Mansfield.

U. S. Stand Scares Japs

TOKYO — (INS) — Reports that the United States is uncertain whether to defend Japan in wartime created today probably the greatest sensational fright in Japan since the war's end.

Premier Shigeru Yoshida, reluctant to discuss reports that the U. S. is reconsidering the whole Far Eastern military situation, said that he is not worried about a Russian invasion of Japan.

He said that he does not believe the current American-Soviet tnesion will develop into a shooting war.

But the Japanese premier was reported authoritatively to have ordered all Japanese foreign office section chiefs to prepare comments on the reports. It was indicated he plans to present them to Gen. Douglas MacArthur with a plea for continued American support of his nation.

Reds Ban Berlin Aid

BERLIN — (UP) — Russian officials have closed the western Berlin borders to mercy food shipments brought into Berlin for under-fed children by the Swedish Red Cross, American authorities said today.

The action halted Swedish Red Cross relief shipments allocated to all four sectors of the blockaded German capitol.

Babcock said, however, that Swedish authorities were told by Russian Deputy Commander Col. Alexei Jelisarov that they would be given permits to bring in food for children living in the Soviet sectors.

The new Russian ban also blocked relief shipments of powdered whole milk for tubercular children in Berlin brought in by another agency.

Novel Theft Leaves Paper Speechless

PORTSMOUTH—(UP)—Vandals who chopped and carried away a two-foot section of a cable carrying 26 pairs of telephone wires into the Portsmouth Daily Times were sought today by police.

All telephone connections with the Times, an evening newspaper, were halted last night until the break was repaired by the telephone company.

Managing Editor John Green said the paper had received no threats and that he knew of no reason why the vandalism was committed.

Police said, however, that political controversy caused by the paper may have been the reason.

GE LAYS OFF NINETY

TIFFIN — (AP) — Ninety workers were laid off yesterday at the Tiffin plant of General Electric company.

West Lashed By Blizzard

'Para-Dog' Aids Sheepherders

(By United Press)

A violent storm raged through the northern Rocky mountains today and spilled onto the range states, thwarting the efforts of relief crews to clear roads of the big snowdrifts.

The storm, resulting from a vast blanket of cold air spreading over the northern half of the nation, lashed northern and eastern Wyoming with winds that sometimes hit 80 miles an hour.

A dog wearing a special parachute-harness was dropped from a plane over southeastern Utah last night to shepherds whose sheep dog died from eating poison set out to kill coyotes.

The dog, drifting down on two 10-foot 'chutes, landed on all fours and unconcernedly went to work herding the flock.

The Red Cross reported that 15 to 20 families in Carbon county, Wyo., were running out of food.

About 500 passengers of two civilain trains and a troop train were still stalled at Rawlins.

Snow plows were nearing the rim of the canyon of the Boise river's south fork where 500 persons were threatened by avalanches that poured down the canyon walls from time to time.

Armed Bandits Hold Up Club

EAST LIVERPOOL — (UP) — Three bandits, all armed, held up some 20 persons at the Glen club, a social organization, here early today and escaped with an estimated $3,000.

The gunmen forced the visitors to line up against a wall. While two of the men threatened the group with guns, the third bandit removed wallets from the trousers of the victims.

Police said the bandits escaped in an automobile driven by a fourth man.

FORMER MAYOR DIES

TOLEDO — (AP) — Fred J. Mery, 73, mayor here in 1926-27 died today after a long illness. A member of the legislature in 1922, he resigned the following year to run successfully for vice mayor.

Use Inhalator On Sick Child

Police Save Life of Choking Girl

Mansfield police were credited today with saving the life of a small Grace street girl who is suffering from a respiratory infection.

Police rushed to the home of John Jones, 319 Grace street, about midnight yesterday when the Jones' daughter, Michele, three and a half years old, was unable to breathe.

Officers applied the inhalator and worked over the child for more than an hour to open her respiratory pasages. When she showed improvement they removed her to General hospital.

"She wouldn't be alive today if they hadn't come out and helped," Mrs. Jones said.

Little Michelle returned last Sunday from Tennessee where she had been visiting her grandmother.

"It must have been the change in climate. She got what we thought was just the sniffles," Mrs. Jones said. "We treated her for that, then suddenly last night she became worse. She had convulsions. The neighbors came in and started artificial respiration and called for the inhalator from the police department. They were so nice. Michelle is my only little child and I am so grateful."

The little girl was reported improved but still seriously ill today in General hospital.

Thief Takes King-Sized Model Molars

CLEVELAND — (UP) — Dr. Stanley R. Suit wondered today what use thieves would find for the set of false teeth that were stolen from him.

The teeth, modeled after a set of human molars, are two feet wide and a foot high.

"That set of teeth is big enough to stick your head in and get it chopped off," the dentist told policemen. "Who would have any use for a thing like that?

Dr. Suit has one consolation. The thieves overlooked a giant toothbrush that went with the teeth.

Garrison Decides to Keep Post

Service Director Promised Pay Boost

Service - Safety Director Earl T. Garrison unexpectedly withdrew his resignation today after receiving a promise from city council that his salary would be upped by $300, to $4,300 a year.

"Council has promised a concession of $300 a year which I appreciate very much," Garrison said, "and owing to the fact that a number of city projects are under construction I feel that I can be of assistance to the public and the administration by staying on the job."

Garrison resigned last month, effective Tuesday, when council refused to grant him a wage increase along with other city employes. He charged that council was "prejudiced and discriminatory."

Earlier this week he denied a rumor that he had changed his mind and was going to stay.

Garrison's request for more pay was based partly on the fact that under the new wage scale set up last month, the police and fire chiefs get $3,900 a year, only $100 a year less than his annual salary.

He felt that inasmuch as his responsibilities were greater and that he was their immediate superior, there should be a greater wage differential between the chiefs and himself.

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn said Garrison's decision to remain on the job made him "very happy."

"It was with extreme regret that I accepted his resignation and it is with great joy that I welcome him back," he said.

Dutch Cabinet Fight Related

THE HAGUE, THE NETHERLANDS, — (AP) — A disagreement over Indonesian policy today led to a cabinet shuffle in the Netherlands government.

J. H. Van Maarseveen, minister of the interior, was appointed minister of overseas territories to replace Dr. E. M. Sassen, who resigned last night in a row over Holland's future course in the Indies. Both are members of the Catholic party.

Sassen's resignation was said to have averted a worse government crisis. The new minister is expected to clarify the Netherlands attitude toward United Nations decisions on Indonesia.

Nab Ohio Youths After Gun Battle

BONESTEEL, S. D., — (UP) — Two Dayton youths were held on first degree robbery charges today after a running gun fight with police that ended an alleged three-day crime spree in four states.

Police identified the two as Estell Buck, 17, and Vernon Frary, 19. In a sweep across Ohio, Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota they were accused of stealing two cars, kidnaping a youth and holding up a service station, police said.

Two Ships Rammed

NEW ORLEANS — (INS) — The S. S. John W. Meldrum rammed into two other ships early today at New Orleans and one of the vessels was reported in "sinking condition" with a gaping hole in her side. No one was believed injured.

Advises Chiefs Of Staff

Noted General Back On Job

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Planning U. S. military commitments under the North Atlantic Defense pact shaped up today as Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's major task in his new advisory role.

The general was "drafted" from his civilian post as president of Columbia university for temporary duty as presiding officer of the joint chiefs of staff, and military consultant to President Truman and Defense Secretary James Forrestal. He begins his assignment Monday.

Eisenhower's experience as commander of allied troops in World War II and later as army chief of staff was felt to have made him the best qualified individual to answer the military questions involved in the proposed defense alliance.

These questions include how much in munitions the United States will give the Western European countries and what military pledges this nation should make.

Besides having a thorough knowledge of the military capabilities of the United States and the western European nations, it was pointed out, Eisenhower will be dealing with other military figures whose confidence he gained during the war.

Both the White House and defense authorities denied that Gen. Ike's recall indicated any critical turn in the cold war with Soviet Russia. The general is expected to remain in Washington seven or eight weeks.

During that time, he will tackle other jobs in addition to the defense pact planning.

As presiding officer of the joint chiefs of staff, Eisenhower will have the say on what matters are to be considered. If the chiefs are unable to agree, Gen. Ike can offer his own recommendations to Forrestal and the defense secretary can make the decision himself.

Find Body Of American

ATHENS — (UP) — Greek press reports said today that a multilated body tentatively identified as that of an American colonel has been found in the ruins of guerilla-wrecked Karpension, and that a length of clothes-line was knotted around his neck.

The body has been identified tentatively as that of Lt. Col. Selden R. Edner, of San Jose, Cal., a U. S. Air Force officer who was shot down or crashed last month while flying over Karpension in a Greek piloted observation plane.

U. S. Air Force authorities had announced earlier the discovery of the body and the tentative identification of it as that of Edner, but the Greek press reports were the first intimation that the body had been mutilated or that a line was found about the neck.

On the face of it, the Greek press reports appeared to suggest that Edner had been killed by the Greek guerillas, who captured Karpension last month.

Five Injured When Cars Smash Head-On

PORTSMOUTH — (UP) — Five persons were in critical condition at General hospital today following a two-car, head-on collision at George Station, about seven miles north of here last night.

Police identified the victims as Raphael Slattery, Route 2, Lucasville; Mr. and Mrs. Norman D. Fields, Wyandotte, Mich., and their two year old daughter and one-year-old son.

Denies U. S. Stand Led To Revolts

Argues Against Writer's Views

A well known French writer, Andre Siegfried, has just published an article in the "Figaro" saying: "Should we not warn our American friends?...When we consider the anti-colonial policy of the United States...we are sometimes tempted to ask whether America, so genuinely anti-communist, is not a revolutionary force in the world that is no less effective than the Soviet union."

Siegfried feels that in Asia and Africa we are propagating "a certain materialistic vision of the world that expresses itself in the will towards industrialization, which means also a claim to independence—the revolt of the colored races against the white race and the occident."

We seem never to ask ourselves, he says, what will be the repercussion of our "apostleship, whether it is a question of democracy, liberation, or the sale of automobiles or vacuum cleaners."

The question Siegfried has raised is of special interest at the present time. For within the Atlantic community, to which we are preparing to give the legal framework of a pact, our European partners have colonial and imperial interests outside the natural frontiers of the Atlantic community. It will not be possible, as Siegfried seems to wish it, for the United States to abandon the traditions and precedents of its whole history and to adopt his unmaterialistic views about independence, democracy, liberation, vacuum cleaners and automobiles for the "extra-European communities."

MUST BE PATIENT

The best we can do is to be patient, moderate, and sympathetic in trying to reconcile the differences which do indeed divide most but not all Americans from many but not all Europeans on colonial and imperial questions. That will be easier to do if Siegfried and others will omit the suggestion that we are responsible "for the revolt of the colored races," or that our attitude toward this revolt is, as compared say with his own attitude, materialistic and thoughtless.

We do not think we have caused the revolt of the masses of Asia. We think, however, that intuitively we anticipated the revolt of Asia, and in so far as we had power and influence in the Philippines and in China, we have sought to establish ties between the Occident and the new Orient. We do not think, except in our less admirable moods, that we are better than our friends who have inherited the burdens of empire.

But we do think that it was easier for us to see what destiny has prepared because we are ourselves a nation formed of a revolution against foreign rule. And we feel that if we have much to learn, say from Siegfried, about the practical difficulties and dangers of a too-rapid emancipation of the "extra-European communities." Siegfried has something to learn from us about the impossibility of waiting too long, and of sitting complacently on the safety valve.

If Siegfried understood this country better, he would hesitate a good while before trying to do away with the deep American instinct which he calls "the anti-colonial policy of the United States."

For without it the western world would be morally disarmed in the great turbulence of Asia. There would be nowhere east of Suez an effective western rival to the Soviet campaign against colonialism and empire.

Without the inner impulse that comes from the American past there would be no program to reconstruct Western Europe and to liberate Eastern Europe, but only a series of hard bargains dictated by immediate self-interest.

'The Eyebrow' Application Given Filmdom's Robinson

By PATRICIA CLARY

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — A man named Dewey Robinson has Hollywood's unusual job No. 36,741. His black, bristling brows measure an inch and three-eights across, and he's a professional eyebrow lifter.

In a town where Betty Grable is known as "the legs," Jimmy Durante as "the nose," and Anita Colby as "the face," the 220-pound Robinson is, naturally, known as "the eyebrow."

Eyebrow-lifting is more in demand in Hollywood than its antics indicate. Robinson has done 420 movies in 30 years and is starting the 421st, 20th Century-Fox' "The Beautiful Blonde From Bashful Ben."

Miss Grable, in this, wears a tight red velvet gown cut as low as possible on top and slit as high as possible at the bottom. There's plenty of Miss Grable to raise an eyebrow at.

When Robinson made silent pictures, his broad, black, beetling brows brought him the name "the junior Mack Swain," after the beetle-browed villain of the old Keystone comedies. Later, he was known as "Desperate Desmond," after the comic strip villain of the day.

"In those days," he said, "I got good juicy parts. I gnarled my brows the way other people gnashed their teeth.

'Grand Design' On List

John Dos Passos' new novel THE GRAND DESIGN is among the fiction books being displayed at Mansfield Public library this week-end.

The scene of the book is laid in Washington, D.C., from 1932-1942, and among the characters involved are a secretary of agriculture with presidential ambitions, government scientists dedicated to the improvement of rural economy, and functionaries and victims of the Communist Party. Their stories compose a bitter satire against the Kremlin's agents and dupes.

THE DUKAYS, by Lajos Zilahy is a long novel translated from the Hungarian. It is the history of the landed family of Count Istvan Dukay. Istvan's two daughters, Kristina and Zia are the principal characters. It depicts continental social and political civilization during the last century and includes many historical characters.

THE CORNER THAT HELD THEM, by Sylvia Townsend Warner is a story laid in an English convent in the 14th century. The Black Death, in 1349, brought just one more difficulty to the precarious existence of this institution on its swampy, isolated island.

Other fiction: THE WALLED CITY — Huxley; DEAD MAN'S GOLD — Mac Donald; NO TRAVELLER RETURNS — Dean.

Non-fiction:

DOLLY MADISON, HER LIFE AND TIMES, by Katherine Anthony is a delightful new biography. Dolly Payne Madison, born and reared a Quaker was famous for her charming personality, her parties, and her beautiful clothes. Her personal influence was felt strongly in Washington. The book also includes good portraits of Jefferson and Madison.

ENGLAND TO ME, by Emily Hahn carries the story of the unconventional Emily back to Major Boxer's home in England. It is an entertaining account of her experiences there with housekeeping on rations, the servant problem, and a heterogeneous assortment of guests.

SHALOM MEANS PEACE is Robert St. John's record of a visit to Palestine immediately after the establishment of the State of Israel.

Other non-fiction:

Inauguration Hailed As Non-Segregation Example

Although only a few commentators mentioned it, a miracle occurred in Washington on Jan. 20 almost as incredible as the spectacular re-election of President Truman. The miracle was that of total abolition of racial segregation. The man from the southern state of Missouri ordered done what had never been done before in American history.

Negroes were invited to every event from the inauguration itself to the reception at the National Art gallery given by the President and Mrs. Truman, the Truman-Barkley dinner, the gala on inauguration eve at which Dorothy Maynor and Lena Horne starred, the Shoreham hotel cocktail party to the members of the Democratic National committee, and innumerable lesser but more intimate events. At the inaugural ball the best dressed and most well-mannered guests, according to Bob Considine, were Negroes, while a distinguished American woman told me that the most beautiful and smartly-gowned woman she had ever seen was a colored guest at the ball.

Probably nine out of ten white Americans would have been convinced on January 19th that "it couldn't happen here." Dire predictions would have been uttered of fist fights, angry words, or even race riots if the previous custom of a Jim Crow ball in a dingy and remote section of Washington were abandoned.

Equally ominous fears of racial clashes would probably have been voiced about Negro guests at Washington's hotels. Or of conspicuously empty seats at the inaugural itself, similar to the much photographed and publicized empty table of Governor Olin D. Johnston of South Carolina at last year's Jackson Day Dinner in Washington in protest against the Truman civil rights program.

BETTER BEHAVED

What happened? Precisely nothing except that this year's inauguration was better behaved than any in recent history. Americans rose, as they have a habit of rising to emergency, to the challenge of ordinary human decency. In one of the choicer stands in the Capitol plaza directly in front of the spot where President Truman of Missouri and Vice-President Barkley of Kentucky were sworn in, approximately one in ten of the guests were dark-skinned.

When a Negro couple in their eagerness to see what was going on stepped in front of three white women with marked Southern accents, there was no complaint by the latter, only a gracious acknowledgment of the apology of the colored couple when they recognized their discourtesy.

I have mentioned that this was the best behaved inaugural of many quadrennia. Perhaps that pleasant circumstance was due in part to the staying away from Washington of an element which has formed a sizeable proportion of the crowd at previous inaugurations of Democratic administrations. These were the "wool hat boys" who utilized the occasion to consume vast quantities of liquor, to rid their lungs of the rebel yell in the nation's capital in defiance of damyankees, who found expression of their frustrations by using electric buzzers on unsuspecting and attractive women.

May I add one post-inaugural note of developing democracy in Washington? Marcus Heiman's transformation of the National theatre, Washington's only outlet for the living theatre, into a motion picture house in lieu of abolition of the color line has been a dismal failure financially.

White Washingtonians by their almost unanimous avoidance of the National theatre are demonstrating to Heiman that they too are growing up despite evidence that much remains to be done to make Washington what it should be.

Can it be that a segregationless inaugural and a boycott of a theatre are proving that Americans are beginning to practice as well as talk about democracy? It could be.

COMMON PLEAS COURT

Mary L. Weinberger vs. Mary L. Weinberger, administratrix of estate of Eugene Weinberger, deceased, and Maria Weinberger. Entry says that Maria Weinberger has executed a deed conveying her interest in property at 571 Heineman boulevard to the plaintiff, and all issues are moot in the case. Case dismissed on request of plaintiff.

Glenn Stimens, Mansfield, R. D. 6, vs. Charles F. and Anna E. Bonham, 85 East Second street. Plaintiff asks judgment of $4,290 as due on a promissory note.

Irene Bricker, 127 Wood street, vs. Theodore Christman, 554 Sloane avenue. Defendant, in a cross-petition, asks $228 as due for labor and materials for installing a used motor and making repairs to plaintiff's car. He claims she did not use car in accordance with instructions after he installed the motor. She sued for $703, claiming the motor installed went bad.

Sarah Boyer vs. George H. Reichert, doing business as the Service Taxi company. Defendant asks dismissal of petition for $10,321 for injuries received when plaintiff bumped her head in a Service cab, which she claims traveled through an intersection at a fast rate of speed, hitting a depression in the street.

John Sikola vs. Russell Goddard. Defendant denies most allegations and asks dismissal of suit for $1,300 for car damages.

Edith C. Metcalf vs. Frank Mitsch, doing business as Frankie Mitsch Corner store. Defendant denies most allegations and asks dismissal of suit for $5,000 in which plaintiff claims she suffered injuries when she fell down a step at the store.

Madison Pupils Form Council

Unit to Be Active Next School Term

By ANN DIDICHER

A student council has been organized for the first time at Madison high school. A constitution and by-laws will be set up before the end of the school year, and by next fall the council will be in full operation.

For the present, Superintendent Olan LaRue and Principal Wayne Miller will be faculty advisers.

The officers are: Russell Glenn, Latin club; Jim Brightbill, "M" association; Charles Frye, Thespians; Dorothy Estep, home economics; "Y" Teens, Eleanor Dorner; Lydia Gross, Hi Spots; Fayne Sheldon, musical arts; Marjorie Welch, GAA; Norman Walker, speech; Norman Otto, visual education; Kenneth Kaser, Spanish.

DANCE FEB. 19

By now most everyone has made plans for Feb. 19, the Sweater Swing. This Valentine dance will be sponsored by the GAA. The dance will be held at the school with dancing to records. There also is going to be a surprise in store for everyone.

The Varsity Rams traveled to Lexington last Tuesday only to be defeated 67-30. The boys seem to have lost a certain something in the last few games which we hope they will find in time for Tuesday night when we play Willard there and Friday night when we play Loudonville at home. In comparison with the Varsity the Reserves are doing swell. They defeated the Lexington Reserves 30-28.

Last week a noon show starred Dorothy McGuire and Robert Young in "Claudia." Next Tuesday the entire student body will see a technicolor movie on mahogany.

Next Tuesday the seniors will select their invitations for graduation.

The Ohio General scholarship test was given Feb. 5 at Madison High school. Seniors from Madison, Union, Lexington, Springfield, Bellville, Lucas, Shiloh, and Plymouth participated.

The seniors who took the test from Madison were Marilyn Swisher, Milvin Grimm, Neil Topper, Reba Stoffer, Ronald Roll, Betty Riggenbach, Eugene Riblet, Shirley Pearson, Raymond Patterson, Esther Newman, Jim McMillan, Gerald McElvain, Kenneth Kaser, Hale Hout, Barbara Hawks, Jim Gatton, Don Morris, Marlin Kindinger, Lee Ray Harp, Margaret Haines, Dorothy Estep, Fred Durig, Phyllis Doughman, Jo Ciraulo, Jack Bosh, Nick Bodi, Joanne Beer, Doris Baumberger, Vernon Barnhill, Mary Band, Ruth Bailey and Lydia Gross.

Lincoln Stood Firmly for 'the Right'

IN EVERY year that has passed since the days of Abraham Lincoln both the leaders and the rest of the people of this country have had need for the many elements of his greatness. It is not easy to select one of his characteristics and enlarge on it alone, but sometimes it seems that a particular trait is especially needed. One such trait was Lincoln's ability to remember that someone who disagreed with him might possibly be right.

When he urged the people to strive on "with firmness in the right," he immediately added, "as God gives us to see the right." When, in seeking re-election, he brought forth the suggestion that it was best not to swap horses when crossing a stream, he first said, "I have not permitted myself, gentlemen, to conclude that I am the best man in the country." In a letter to Horace Greeley he wrote, "I shall try to correct errors where shown to be errors, and I shall adopt new views as fast as they shall appear to be true views."

Lincoln did not accept anything he thought to be wrong, but he was never dogmatic in his ideas of right. That kind of perspective, of willingness to seek the truth, is very important for Americans today. While we strive to support and extend the principles of right, we need always to add in sincerity and understanding "as God gives us to see the right."

Another Radio Hoax Perpetrated

REQUIREMENT for restraint of "freedom" is again convincingly demonstrated by the asinine stunt of a radio announcer in Willmar, Minn., a couple of nights ago—remindful of the furor created by Orson Welles around ten years ago by his senseless "invasion from Mars" broadcast.

In this case the people of the little town of Willmar were panicked by hearing over their radios the startling announcement that wild animals had escaped from a circus car, trampled a railroad patrolman, and were roaming about the streets.

"Turn out all lights in your homes!" the radio voice blared in excited tone, with the warning: "Keep the children off the streets."

Then, by chance, the town's fire whistle blew, adding to the terror of the people huddled in darkness in their homes.

After a while it was explained that no wild animals were loose in the town—that it was all a hoax, which the perpetrator explained by saying that he wanted to see "if anybody listened to his program."

First information is to the effect that the nitwit will be permitted to continue broadcasting but will be required to "stick to his script." This would seem to be a case for a psychiatrist—as the mental maturity of a person who would regard such idiocy as a "joke" must be seriously questioned.

Expect Spring Floods, As Usual

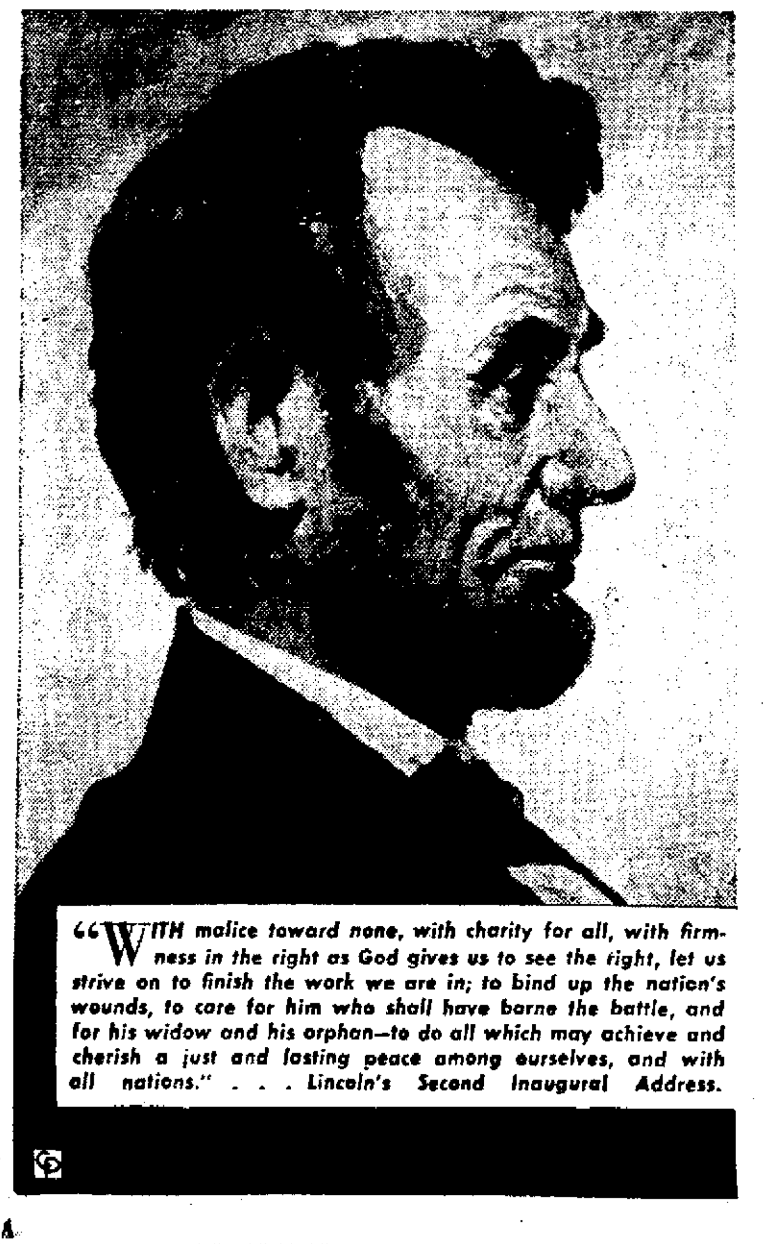
FOR MANY REGIONS the waning of winter is a warning to prepare for spring floods, which come as surely as the spring itself. From the indications of winter weather so far, the worst general danger areas this spring are to be in the great Ohio and Missouri river valleys. In January the Ohio already was rising, and the heavy snowstorms of the western plains will contribute to the burden of the Missouri.

Much of this annual peril could be averted by construction of proper engineering works along the rivers to control the water. It is constantly puzzling that these works are being developed so slowly.

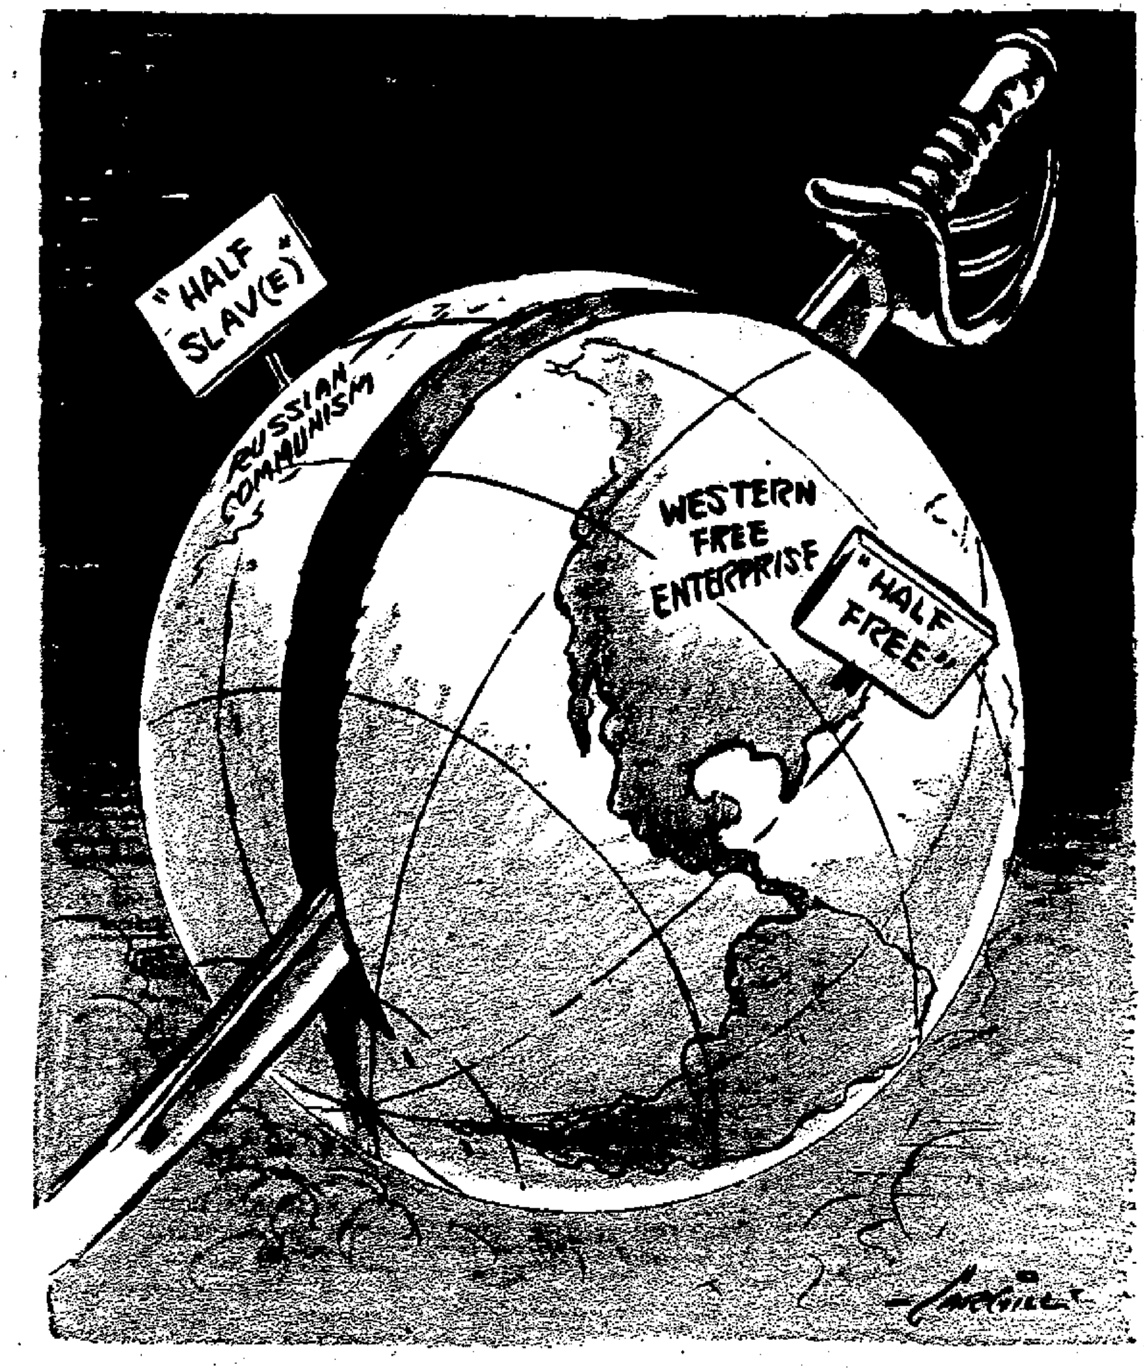
If you sometimes wonder, "What's in a name?"—consider the Taft-Hartley law, in which the name appears to be the chief point of objection.

To those whom it may concern, word from New York is to the effect that mink coats are now being priced at 50 per cent off.

Lincoln's Words Alive Today



"WITH malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in; to bind up the nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and his orphan—to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves, and with all nations." . . . Lincoln's Second Inaugural Address.



As Lincoln Said: "The World Cannot Long Endure—!"

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Campaign Promises Hit Economic Snag

IT IS becoming clearer that both candidates in last year's notable campaign were talking through their hats to the farmers.

It may be that what reached the farmers through the Truman hat was more alluring. But it is now perfectly evident that as far as grain prices are concerned neither candidate could have made any promises worth hearing.

The 80th Congress was reproached because it had permitted wheat to fall below $2. The decline, Secretary Brannan said, was due to the niggardly Republican failure to provide storage space. This, too was blarney.

The brand new 81st Congress now has been in session for some weeks, and grain prices are very considerably below parity and are falling constantly.

Nothing has been done about storage space, although it is planned that there will be more storage space, although it is planned that there will be more storage for the next crop.

That the Democrats are not alone in the gentle pastime of bamboozling the farmers is shown by the fact that the Republicans are not saying a word about the facts cited above.

President Truman and his congressional cohorts are wide open to attack. But the Republican opposition is afraid to make the attack, largely because it would then be invited to vote a large sum for grain support.

* * *

Bolstering Prices.

THERE WAS tall talk in the campaign by Messrs. Truman and Brannan about the "bread trust" and the high cost of its product. And now, months after the housewives voted for Truman and bread, nothing has happened except the appearance of an inconclusive report on the subject by the department of agriculture.

Presumably, while hungry babies are gnawing on this report the administration hopes the price will come down willy-nilly. And probably it will. For Mother Nature and great economic forces are moving against both wheat and corn prices with inexorable pressure.

Most countries in Europe and elsewhere are trying to avoid buying grain in the United States because they need their dollars for other things. Nearly 40 per cent of grain exports are going to Germany, Japan and Korea. The ports are clogged with grain, and the government finds it difficult to buy enough to support prices.

The Commodities Credit Corporation has raised the quality requirements in making loans on corn. Hence, more of the lower grades are going into feeding and into lower priced markets.

The government, however, is trying energetically to keep some prices up. Great fear is apparent lest livestock prices should outdo grain on the downward slide.

Senator McFarland recently obtained a promise from the Army to buy a considerable amount of beef within the next 60 days "to relieve on over-abundant supply in the western market."

The government is also trying to support milk prices by purchases of cheese for the school-lunch program. To support raisins and citrus fruits, the government is not only buying for the lunch program, but has decided to refund exporters to the extent of 25 per cent. This, of course, is government-supported dumping.

These artificial supports are not likely to be effective for long. Supply and demand are operating, and in the readjustment government can do little but break the fall.

The worst feature in the whole situation is the continued capacity of politicians to make people believe government can do what it clearly cannot do in determining prices.

Case of 'Try, Try Again'

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON — The current attempt to reorganize our unwieldy federal government, which seems to have a chance of some success at long last, offers a commentary on our changing times and our changing approach to a long-time problem.

Several attempts have been made in the past. The first this reporter remembers writing about was back in 1922 when a survey and report were made by a special joint commission of members of Congress and cabinet officers, including Herbert Hoover who was then secretary of commerce. It got nowhere. There may have been others before that. Certainly, there have been several since. It is easy for one who has watched them all to become philosophical—if still hopeful.

How attitudes have changed in Congress toward government reorganization is demonstrated by what happened only a few years back.

When the last President Roosevelt recommended the same sort of thing he was cried down as "a dictator" and the most absurd and ridiculous things were said and written.

That, of course, was only a sign of the tempestuous times. Foes of Mr. Roosevelt had decided that the "dictator" tag was a good one and so most anything he proposed to do brought that outcry. They seized on the government reorganization bill as a handy tool—and fooled lots of folks, too. Cited in proof of his "dictatorial" aspirations were the very powers that Congress is in the process of giving to President Truman.

All of which is neither here nor there. It just shows that times have changed—and for the better.

* * *

Started By Republicans.

THIS present move is of Republican origin. It was part of the party's efficiency and economy program in the 80th Congress. It was carried out in a resolution sponsored jointly by Senator Lodge (R., Mass.) and Rep. Brown (R., Ohio) which authorized President Truman to appoint a special commission for a study and report to Congress. This report is now being submitted to Congress in sections.

President Truman accepted the Republican move gratefully and as chairman of the commission selected Herbert Hoover, who not only was thoroughly familiar with the administrative setup and problems of the executive branch of the government in which he served for a dozen years, lastly as president, but also was an expert in administration.

The appointment was politically astute beyond its soundness, for it would not only give the project eminent respectability among Republicans, but also would place considerable responsibility upon Mr. Hoover's broad shoulders. It has all worked out nicely.

In scrutinizing the bill delegating wide powers to the President, Congress properly is raising some questions about some of the Hoover Commission's recommendations.

The House recognized an objection always raised against all-inclusive plans of consolidation by exempting certain independent commissions and agencies, among them, the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Securities and Exchange Commission, from the general power imposed in the President to put them in regular departments under cabinet officers. The way was left open for Congress to consider separately how some of these should be treated.

This may seem trivial and minor, but it isn't. These two and a number of others are not executive agencies, but arms of Congress.

Dave Boone Says:

TOM DEWEY says "Government today has to be more than a cold and impartial umpire." But at the same time he can't see why it should try to pitch, catch, play first base, keep score, run the peanut concession and control the size of the hot dogs, as I understand him.

* * *

If Tom had made in the presidential campaign one speech as warm, readable, entertaining and full of meat as his Lincoln dinner talk he might have walked in.

* * *

It's a curious thing about the governor: he tightens up in the vital moments.

My man of the day is Bela Balassa, the Hungarian consul general to New York, who resigned his post, declaring the trial of Cardinal Mindszenty "a crucifixion." How many Americans are that sincere in their indignation?

As Others See It

An Omitted Promise.

Blueprint For Economy Taking Shape

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

THE FIRST major administration bill was passed by the House, 356 to 9, this week. It grants the President broad and permanent powers to reorganize the executive branch of the government.

The bill is part of a master plan, recommended by a commission headed by ex-President Hoover, which would save taxpayers an estimated three billion dollars a year by compressing 65 government agencies into 22. Before it can become law, the measure must be approved by the Senate.

The Hoover commission, which spent 16 months studying federal bureaucracy, published a 50-page report in which 27 recommendations were made. It is the first in a series of 15 reports the commission will give Congress in the next few weeks.

Situation Is "Intolerable."

In a personal appearance before a Senate committee, Mr. Hoover remarked that Congress and seven presidents had studied the problem of government reorganization for 40 years but very little had been accomplished and the situation now was intolerable.

Mr. Hoover said that most previous plans had died from "grasshopper bites." Every official, he said, was eager to have everyone else reorganize but fiercely believed his own particular agency was an exception.

Foreign Aid Bill.

The administration also laid before Senate and House foreign committees its European aid program for the 15 months beginning April 3. It amounts to $5.580.000.000.

Paul G. Hoffman, head of the Economic Cooperation Administration, broke it down this way: $1.150.000.000 to help non-Communist European countries over the next April-June period, $4.280,000,000 for the fiscal year beginning July 1, and $150.000 000 to be spent in long-range planning beyond the end of that fiscal year.

"If this program brings us peace and stability," Hoffman said, "and I believe it can, it will be the greatest bargain the American people ever had."

At Home

Progress Toward Pact.

IN THE face of mounting Russian pressure, Norway sturdily refused to declare it would not enter the proposed North Atlantic security pact. But before it formally accepted the American invitation, Norway sent its foreign minister, Halvard M. Lange, winging to Washington to confer with state department chiefs.

Lange was assured that the price of his country's membership in the defensive alliance would be reasonable. In substance, he was told the west looks to his country mainly to bolster its own defenses and coordinate with the grand defensive strategy adopted by all other western powers.

Norway was assured, it is understood, that the United States had no intention of asking any Scandinavian country to provide advanced military bases.

Salary Sweepstakes.

Scowling Humphrey Bogart is top man on the Treasury's list of individual wage earners for the calendar year 1946 and business fiscal years ended in 1947. He earned $467,361. What he had left after the big tax bite was not reported.

The leading lady is big-eyed Bette Davis with $328 000. She's third on the list, trailing Jacob W. Schwabb, New York textile magnate, who amassed $440,542.

* * *

Rent Controls.

Unless rent controls are extended millions of Americans will have to pay 50 to 60 per cent higher rent.

That is the prediction of Tighe Woods, federal housing expediter, who urged Congress to approve the Administration's bill to stiffen and extend rent control through March 31, 1951.

Unless Congress acts, the present rent control law expires at the end of next month.

The National Association of Real Estate Boards claims that rent control is driving housing off the market. The result, it says, is fewer apartments and houses for rent.

* * *

Court Martial System.

Congress still is reverberating to complaints on the operation of military justice and tribunals during World War II.

Recently the Army and Air Forces put in an innovation — permitting enlisted men or non-commissioned officers to act as members of a court if the accused is an enlisted man and asks for them. One third of the court—which usually consists of nine members—may be enlisted men.

That was designed to cope with a long standing beef from the ranks—that the services had one system of justice for enlisted men, another for officers.

* * *

Steel Production.

American output of steel in 1948 was more than 80,000,000 metric tons—larger than that of all Europe.

The figures are based on information supplied by the producing countries with the exception of Russia and Yugoslavia. In these two cases, the commission made its own estimates on the basis of available information.

Every major European country, with the exception of Russia and Germany, now is producing more steel than its 1936-38 average.

Abroad

Hands Across the Sea.

The French "Merci" train split up this week, dropping off one car at each of the 48 state capitals and the District of Columbia.

Each of the 49 French 40-and-8 box cars was loaded with gifts from the French people as an expression of thanks for the American "Friendship Train" which distributed food to European needy a year ago. More than 6,000,000 Frenchmen contributed.

Gifts included rare vases from Sevres, old tapestries, a sword worn by Napoleon. There were 49 mannikin dolls, each three feet tall and valued at $1,000, representing the finest handicraft of French industries.

A torch lighted from the "eternal flame" which burns under the Arc de Triomphe in Paris was presented before the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington Cemetery.

Reform—at a Price.

The fabulously rich Nizam of Hyderabad disclosed that he has turned his vast land holdings over to the state in return for a pay boost estimated at well over $3,000,000 a year.

Quotes

Arthur H. Vandenberg: "We have won two wars but there is no peace . . . the politburo in Moscow has refused it to us and to other independent peoples everywhere."

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, Army chief of staff: "If the United States is driven into another war we shall once more be forced to gain the inevitable victory over dead bodies—those of our soldiers on the ground."

Conquered Hyderabad's military governor said the ruler had handed over 7,000 square miles of land for administration by the civil government in a big new land reform. That was after the government had agreed to almost double the size of the Nizam's privy purse.

Super Spy Ring.

Perhaps as a warning to this country, Gen. Douglas MacArthur has bared the story of a super spy ring in Tokyo which stole Japanese and German secrets for the Russians and helped swing the tide of victory against Hitler.

It was probably the best and boldest spy network in history, says the Army in a 32,000-word report. Americans found out about it only after they occupied Japan.

In Short

Granted: By Columbia University, a leave to its president, Dwight D. Eisenhower, to serve in Washington as national military advisor.

Suggested: By Gov. Dewey, that Republicans, who oppose "liberal, progressive" policies, get out of the party.

Vowed: By Sen. Taft, to call for a point by point vote in the Senate on provisions of the Taft-Hartley law before considering the administration's labor bill to replace it.

Washington Calling

An Uncompleted Task

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—The good that men do is not always, in the Shakespearean phrase, interred with their bones. It does often live after them and the light of it shines far beyond the little span allotted to each man.

The late Laurence Duggan gave himself in selfless devotion in many ways. But his chief interest after he left the department of state was the Institute of International Education, of which he was president as his father, Stephen Duggan, had been before him.

At the time that tragedy overtook him and cut off his life at the age of 43, Larry Duggan was starting to raise additional money for the institute.

Now his friends have formed a committee to contribute a fund in his name to carry on the work in which he so deeply believed. As Archibald Macleish, chairman of the committee, puts it:

"It was not in Larry's nature to leave a job unfinished . . . Such a fund will enable all of us acting together to achieve for him some, at least, of the tasks he would have accomplished had he lived."

The Institute of International Education is a private organization tht serves as a bridge, not between government and government, but between the peoples of one country and the peoples of another country.

It does this by providing funds for American students to go abroad and for foreign students and teachers to come to our colleges and universities.

The last is especially important. There is no way of measuring the profound and far-reaching influence of American education and American experience on the thousands of foreign students who have come to our shores in recent decades.

One young man who returns to his native land to take a position of leadership with a favorable impression of Amerisan educational standards is worth no one can gauge how many millions of words or propaganda by government.

* * *

Has Been Done Before.

AFTER the Boxer rebellion in China, the government in Washington wisely decreed that the indemnity to be paid by China to the United States should go to finance Chinese students in this country. Several thousand Chinese availed themselves of the fund before it was exhausted.

Incidentally, Chinese students in this country now find themselves in a difficult plight as one consequence of the tragedy in their homeland.

It has been difficult or impossible for them to get American dollars through ther government,, and under U.S. immigration laws they are not permitted to earn any money. A ship is now being fitted out to send back to China those who have completed some phase of their education.

Besides the foreign students who have come here, other thousands have been educated in American schools abroad. That is true particularly in the Near East, where several institutions have done pioneering work.

The comfortable assumption, of course, is that the government is taking care of everything over there. Billions are being sent abroad and surely that relieves the individual citizen of any responsibility.

But if it is all left to government, then we shall lose something of infinite value; something that has grown out of American idealism and American character.

Expressions like the Friendship Train to Europe and now, in reciprocation, the French Thank-You train show how deep is the impulse of the individual to reach across the limitations and formalities of government.

This impulse must be encouraged and not stifled. It was the goal to which Larry Duggan had intended to devote his life. At the time of his death he was working on plans to extend and enlarge the work of the institute.

Kate Smith Proves a Plump Girl Can Get Ahead Despite Calories

NEW YORK—(AP)—Nobody loves a fat man, but America's number one "pitch lady"—Kate Smith—is still proving a plump girl can get along in the world without counting her calories.

For 18 years come next May 1—her fortieth birthday—the moon has been coming over the mountain for big-hearted Katie.

It has been a full, round, golden moon—both for Katie and for radio. In her 18 years at the top she is estimated to have grossed $15,000,000—a mark equalled by few entertainers.

She and her longtime partner-manager, Ted Collins, the well-known philanthropist of professional football, are reported to share $10,000 to $12,000 a week even now.

But a big income alone doesn't explain a big girl like Kate. She's grown with the times.

Eighteen years ago she was merely a fresh new mellow contralto voice over the air waves. Todaw she is also a fairly strident contralto opinion.

For Katie doesn't just pitch tunes anymore. She now pitches homespun philosophy. She pitches for causes, too—the Red Cross, the Army Nursing corps, better treatment of veterans.

She also pitches against things—like the 20 per cent luxury tax on baby powder, heart disease and racial intolerence.

Kate likes her role as a kind of poor woman's Dorothy Thompson.

She enjoys her talking program as much as she does singing. It excites her.

"I consider my work fun," she said, thumping the desk of her manager with a vigorous fist. "I love it. There's something new about it every day. If I had nothing but idle time on my hands I'd be a miserable woman."

There is little likelihood of her ever being idle. She writes two magazine columns on cooking and makes an average of 60 phonograph records a year.

★

She lives in a two-terrace apartment on lower Park avenue with her elderly cocker spaniel, Freckles. She has a maid and a cook, but—

"I can cook circles around her," said Kate. "I love it."

Being a diplomat, however, she doesn't take over in the kitchen except on Sundays—the cook's day off.

Kate differs from her fellow entertainers in that she doesn't associate much with members of her own profession.

"Some call me high hat for that," she said frankly. "But I found long ago, when I first got started, that some were trying to use me as a chump. So I decided it was wiser to pick my friends outside my own field."

Like any fat girl who was kidded in her youth for being overweight, Kate is still sensitive. But today she realizes fully that her stoutness is a capital asset. And the hurt helped her portray her life's role—the congenial warm-hearted, big sister of everybody in distress. She likes the role and lives it.

"I enjoy going to hospitals and talking to the patients," she said. Charities stand in line to get her to make radio appeal for funds, because her listeners respond with checks by the thousands.

Most people, successful or unsuccessful, are afraid of something. Kate feels she honestly isn't.

"I'm not the kind of person who can go through life worrying," she laughed. "I just can't worry about myself."

County's Relief Load Up 136 per Cent

Lay-offs Increase Costs

Pay Checks Too Small

Lay-offs in Mansfield industries, coupled with the high cost of living, have boosted Mansfield's relief load 143 per cent above the case total at this time a year ago, county relief figures showed today.

Cases cared for by the county have skyrocketed accordingly. County cases for January totaled 246, or 136 per cent higher than the January, 1948, total of 104.

This is the picture of the county's emergency help situation as outlined by Harvey W. Burghard, newly-appointed Richland County Relief director.

"It's almost impossible to get a man a job now," Burghard said. "Up until the first of the year we had pretty good luck, but it's dropped off just like that . . . !"

Burghard, who until January worked as a job interviewer at the Ohio State Employment Service, has enlisted the aid of the service in gaining employment for able-bodied persons seeking relief.

No one is given relief unless he or she is first registered with the employment service as a job seeker. Burghard maintains the cooperation of the two agencies has been "working out very well," but jobs are definitely not as plentiful as they were two months ago.

As a result of the lay-offs, many families who were dropped from relief when the breadwinner found employment are now back on the list. And the list is growing larger every day, according to Mrs. Gladys Schad, city relief officer, and Mrs. Elizabeth Grubaugh, county relief officer.

CAN'T MEET EXPENSES

Biggest problem in the office, according to the relief officials, is the group of relief seekers between 20 and 40 years of age. Many of these are working, but find their paycheck won't cover the necessities of life.

Single men of the same age group are also swelling the ranks who file in daily to seek financial help at the city's or county's expense.

Sickness often makes an otherwise independent family another case on the relief office list. In December alone, $700 was paid out in hospital bills at General hospital for relief patients.

Adding to the burden of the office is the fact that there is only one official investigator for the agency. She is Mrs. Mary Dick of Shelby. Because it is impossible for Mrs. Dick to follow up every appeal for help, Burghard is often called away from his office duties to look into the new cases.

167 Freed By Israeli

TEL AVIV — (UP) — An Israeli amnesty effective yesterday will free 167 prisoners, including 70 civil prisoners and 97 military prisoners and suspects.

A special clause in the proposal originated by Premier David Ben Gurion stated that offenders would not be relieved of their civil liabilities.

Interpreted literally, this means that thieves will have to return their loot and black marketeers their profits.

Prisoners-of-war and lunatics were explicitly excluded from the amnesty which Israeli officials said would free two Stern group leaders, Nathan Friedman-Yellin and Matityahu Schumelewitz.

Route at about 6:30 p. m. yesterday, the state highway patrol reported.

Robert Backensto, 22, Mansfield, R. R. 2, driver of the car, said he was following a truck and when the truck passed the little girl, she stepped into the path of his car. She received a glancing blow from the side of the car, patrolmen said.

Discuss Security Pact

Top Canadian, U. S. Officials Confer

WASHINGTON—(UP)—President Truman meets Canadian Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent here today for an informal talk which may lead to closer integration of North American defenses.

St. Laurent arrived last night in response to an invitation from the President. It is his first visit to this country since he took office as prime minister last November.

During his two-day stay in Washington, he planned to see Secretary of State Dean Acheson as well as other cabinet officials and congressional leaders. He was to be Mr. Truman's luncheon guest at Blair House today.

Although his trip is described as a social visit, St. Laurent has indicated he will bring up the question of the future of U.S. bases in Newfoundland during his talks here.

American and Canadian officials also predicted that trade matters and the projected North Atlantic Security pact, of which St. Laurent long has been an ardent advocate, will be discussed.

Representatives of the United States, Canada and five European countries now are putting the finishing touches on the security agreement in Washington.

St. Laurent told the Canadian House of Commons earlier this week he hoped to review with Mr. Truman proposals to give Canada a voice in the operation of U.S. bases in Newfoundland.

Mr. Truman and Acheson were expected to advise St. Laurent on the progress of the North Atlantic pact negotiations, including those recently concluded with Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvard Lange.

Mrs. Bergh Dies At 65

Mrs. Mary Bergh, 65, died at General hospital late yesterday afternoon, after a lingering illness. She was the wife of Otto Bergh, South Main Street road.

Mrs. Bergh was born in Baltimore, Md., on June 8, 1883 and had lived in Mansfield for the past 18 years.

Besides her husband, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Thomas Carroll of Mansfield; four brothers, Magill Redman, Claude Redman, and Robert Redman, all of Baltimore, Md., and Spencer Redman, of Washington, D. Case Institute Attic Yields Ancient Letter From Lincoln

CLEVELAND — (INS) — A letter written by Abraham Lincoln to a member of the family which founded Case Institute of Technology has been discovered in the attic of the Cleveland engineering school.

Karl O. Thompson, professor of History, yesterday reported discovery of the letter, the authenticity of which was established by the Abraham Lincoln association of Springfield, Ill., and the Chicago historical society.

Lincoln's letter was dated Dec. 29, 1859, in Springfield and was addressed to Zophar Case, father of Eckstein Case, who was secretary-treasurer of the case board of trustees from 1887 to 1939. Zophar, born in Warren in 1818, was an uncle of the school's founder.

In the letter, Lincoln, who was practicing law at the time, refers to a lawsuit brought by A. Sanders Piatt in Clinton county. Piatt placed the case in the hands of the law firm of Lincoln & Herndon. Lincoln inquired about some property in the letter.

Church Council Urges Religious Courses for Public Schools

Obstacles Related In New Report

Final Session Held Today

COLUMBUS — (AP) — A report on religious education in public schools tops today's business in the closing session of the week-long meeting of the International Council of Religious Education.

Consideration of the report is among various committee recommendations in a series of business sessions.

The report recommends the council take aggressive action in behalf of religious education in public schools.

In a policy statement, yesterday afternoon, the council declared weekday religious education on released time has not been invalidated by the U. S. Supreme Court. It is only subject to certain restrictions, the council said. It was its first pronouncement of the subject since the high court ruled adversely a year ago on a program in effect in Champaign, Ill., schools.

The statement is expected to guide the actions of at least the 40 denominations and 23 state councils of churches affiliated with the ICRE.

In view of the Supreme Court decision, the council "advised" churches against these "practices":

Use of public school buildings or public school machinery for the classes, that such classes are a part of the public school program; any plan under which school authorities share in the certification or selection of teachers or curriculum, in the supervision of teaching or in disciplining of pupils.

It "rigorously" cautioned against "any plan or practice which accentuates differences between religious groups."

The policy statement further advised against:

Listing grades in religion on public school report cards, and the registration of youngsters or the publicizing or promotion of such classes by "public school workers in their official capacities."

The council said the supreme court decision "seems" to have called all such practices into question.

Dr. Paul Vieth, a professor of religious education at Yale university's divinity school, and a former advisor on religious affairs to Gen. Douglas MacArthur in Japan, spoke at last night's council session.

Slow Trial Irks Judge

NEW YORK — (U.P.) — Federal Judge Harold R. Medina closed the fourth week of the communist conspiracy trial yesterday with the statement that he would spend the week end considering how to prevent the defense jury challenge hearing "from going on interminably."

"I hereby direct counsel for the defendants to submit to me the first thing Monday morning a statement of what they propose to prove in the remainder of the case and how they propose to prove it, in considerable detail," Medina said.

The judge said he would continue to hear re-direct examination of Doxey A. Wilkerson, star witness for the 11 top U. S. communist defendants, on Monday "and in the meantime I will consider what is to be done to shorten the proceedings."

The trial, thus, will enter its fifth week without selection of a jury to try the 11 communist national board members on a blanket indictment charging they conspired to teach and advocate the overthrow of the government by force and violence.

Communist Plans For Theft Of Atom Plans Now Bared

joined in the search for A-bomb information leaks.

Vice Consul Peter Ivanov, of the U.S.S.R.'s consulate in San Francisco, approached one George Charles Eltenton and promised him a certain amount of money if he could arrange for a flow of such information on the west coast.

Eltenton went to Haakon Chevalier, a well-known translator of European novelists and then a professor at the University of California, and explained that the Russians felt they were entitled to all A-bomb information, inasmuch as they were allies.

SCIENTIST SAYS 'NO'

Chevalier subsequently approached Prof. J. Robert Oppenheimer, brilliant young head of the enormous scientific effort which produced the bomb and opened incredible vistas in atomic energy. Oppenheimer declined to cooperate.

Ivanov then began using a man who called himself Steve Nelson, an employe of The Daily Worker who had been a communist Party candidate for the Pennsylvania state legislature from Wilkes-Barre.

In March, 1943, Nelson was observed visiting a nuclear physicist then at work at the University of California's Radiation Laboratories.

Continuing what seems to have been its fruitless inquiry into atomic espionage the committee report stated that on July 1, 1944. Martin David Kamen, young Canadian-born scientist working for the Manhattan project, left the University of California and met Gregory Kheifets, another Soviet vice consul in San Francisco.

According to a former MED scientist, Kamen "very definitely" gave classified information to Kheifets and Kasperov. Asked to resign from his atomic work, Kamen conceded that he had committed a gross indiscretion.

MAKES CONTACT

The committee in its report informed the proper prosecuting authorities that Adams' first known contact with an A-bomb authority was made with Clarence Hiskey, a University of Wisconsin scientist who had become interested in communism through his wife, Marcia.

"Finally we were convinced that he was a subversive agent," the ranking security officer of the MED testified for our records. "The question then was what to do with him.

Someone, I think it was Colonel Lansdale, found in Hiskey's record that he had a second lieutenancy in college in the ROTC. Providentially, he had retained his commission. We transferred him to the Canol project (in Canada) where, in the Quartermaster corps, he counted underwear until the project went out of business.

"Then he was transferred to an outfit in the South Pacific. He was promoted under ordinary steps from lieutenant to captain, with no interference from us, and he finally came out of the army as a captain."

On the day after Hiskey was called to active duty in the army he met Arthur Adams in Chicago. The inference is irresistible, the committee declared, that he told Adams the Soviet agent would have to develop a new contact within the Metallurgical laboratory.

A day later, Hiskey went to Cleveland to the hotel of John Hitchcock Chapin, young chemical engineer employed in the laboratory concerned. Then he took off for his new assignment. While there his luggage was searched and it was found to contain secret A-bomb information.

Hiskey has never been prosecuted, nor have any of the others named.

Brown Owner Lists Losses In Pro Grid

CLEVELAND — (UP) — Arthur McBride, owner of the Cleveland Browns of the All-America conference, claimed today the rival National Football league was suffering a greater financial loss in the battle between the two circuits.

McBride estimated that in 1948 the Los Angeles Rams of the NFL lost $250,000, the Chicago Cardinals $40,000, the Pittsburgh steelers $70,000, the Detroit Lions $93,000, the New York Giants $200,000, the Green Bay Packers $150,000, the Philadelphia Eagles $40,000 and the Boston Yanks $300,000.

BEARS MAKE MONEY

The Washington Redskins broke even, he said, and the Chicago Bears made about $50,000.

In the All-America conference, McBride said, the Baltimore Colts lost $43,000, the Brooklyn Dodgers $150,000, the New York Yankees $50,000, the Buffalo Bills $100,000, the Los Angeles Dons $250,000, the Chicago Rockets $100,000 and the Cleveland Browns $35,000.

He said the San Francisco 49ers made about $3,000.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Mansfield High Basketball Teams Break Even

Two Class B Schools Put 'Out'

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Commissioner H. W. Emswiler has suspended indefinitely two class B high schools from all athletic competition as the result of withdrawing their teams from the floor during basketball contests.

In the first action of its kind ever taken, Greenwich high school, of Huron county, and Pleasant City of Guernsey county were ordered to suspend all athletic activity.

OUT OF TOURNEYS

The ruling eliminates both from the basketball championship tournaments now getting under way throughout the state. The suspensions, ordered by Emswiler, remain in effect at least until March 26 when the state board of control will decide whether the penalties should be extended.

Emswiler said the Pleasant City coach, William Jirles, withdrew his team in the third quarter of a Feb. 1 game at Byesville, in protest against a decision by the officials. Byesville was leading 30-28 with a minute to go in the period.

The Greenwich coach, Raymond Low, withdrew his team Feb. 4 during the final quarter of a close game at Wakeman, Emswiler said, also as the result of a decision.

NO CAN DO

"The competing schools select the officials, and once the game gets under way the officials are in charge," Emswiler said. "No coach has the right to withdraw a team from a game while it is in progress, and we're going to put a stop to it right now."

Emswiler's ruling not only knocks the two teams out of their county tournaments, but rules them out of all athletics until further notice, the commissioner said. Unless the suspension is lifted or modified by the state board at its March 26 meeting, each school would be eliminated from the spring baseball. track, tennis, golf, swimming and other competitions.

The suspensions are effective today.

Lexington Quint Scores Easy Win Over Shiloh Club

LEXINGTON—Lexington had things pretty much its own way here last night as it romped over the Shiloh Drummer Boys by a 61-33 score.

Lexington center Dick Dill pumped in 25 points to help his cause in the county scoring race. He counted nine foul shots and eight field goals.

The Minutemen played without regulars Tom Tupps and John Wirick but both are expected to be back by next week. Tupps injured his ankle against Madison and Wirick has missed the last two games with sinus trouble.

Lexington's reserves won, 42-14.

Palmer In Front Of Texas Tourney

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — (AP) — Laconic Johnny Palmer, that putting man from Badin. N. C., set out today at the head of a field of 64 in the third round of the $10,000 Texas open golf tournament.

Boasting a stroke lead over handsome Dick Metz of Virginia Beach, Va., Palmer had a 36-hole score of 133 as the result of rounds of 67 and 66. He shot the 67 over the fort Sam Houston par 71 6. 379-yard course. He got the 66 yesterday. at Brackenridge Park's 6,400-yard.

Ohio U. Frosh Outfit Meets Buck Jay Vee's

ATHENS — (UP) — Ohio University's freshman basketball team will be out to protect a seven-game win streak when they meet the Ohio State junior varsity here tonight in a preliminary to the Ohio-Miami varsity contest.

In an earlier meeting, the Bobkittens topped the state five, 40-32.

Favored 5 Falls Before Jays, 43-34

By CHARLEY STINE

BELLVILLE — Bellville's Blue Jays roared into tie for the Richland county league lead here last night by walloping favored Ontario by an impressive 43-34 score.

The defeat removed Ontario from the undisputed possession of first place it had held since the opening of the season. It was the Warriors' second straight loss and Bellville's seventh consecutive league victory.

DEFENSE TIGHT

Beautiful passing and a tight defense, both by Bellville, was the whole story of the ball game. Ontario was not in top form but the Blue Jays' tight man-for-man which checked the full length of the floor had much to do with the confusion.

Jim Fry, Bellville forward, did the number one defensive job as he kept the Richland county league's leading scorer, Howard Sunnucks from scoring a single field goal. Sunnucks contributed but three free throws and got very few shots from the floor.

Meanwhile, the Blue Jays' snap passes led them to an easy lead, 14-7, at the quarter and 24-12 at the half. Most of the plays worked the ball into Center Bill Lyon, who popped away four field goals in the half.

CONTINUE TO SCORE

After the intermission Bellville continued to pour it on until leading 30-14, when Ontario made its most serious threat. The Warriors tallied seven straight points to pull within nine points but Bellville came back to lead 35-21 at the end of the third period.

The Blue Jays ran the count to 40-27 before their play-making guard, Bill Smith, left the game by the five-foul route. Ontario's Richie Hunt, although playing with four fouls himself, took things in hand and brought Ontario to its cloest margin, 40-34. He scored five of the seven points himself.

That ended the Ontario scoring, however, as both Hunt and his fellow guard, Jack Perry, left the game on personal fouls.

DIVIDE SCORING

Bellville's passing attack divided scoring honors evenly between Lyon, Smith and Bill Balliett, all of whom flipped in 12 points.

Crowds started lining up outside the Bellville gym door as early as 5 p. m. and all seats were filled 20 minutes after the doors opened at 6:30 p. m. Fans were being turned away as much as a half hour before time for the reserve game.

Bellville won the reserve game, 27-21.

Pep Regains World Featherweight Title

By JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK — (UP) — Willie Pep, who made ring history last night by recapturing the world featherweight championship from Sandy Saddler in a bloody battle at Madison Square Garden, probably will defend the crown in a "rubber match" with Saddler at Yankee stadium in June.

That June meeting will be a command performance from the sell-out crowd of 19,097 fans who witnessed the great 15-round fight and from the thousands more who saw the bout on television.

Pep, displaying unexpected speed and skill, won the unanimous decision from the slender, sleepy looking young Harlem Negro who had knocked out Willie in the fourth round of the first bout on Oct. 29. But, on at least four occasions it seemed that 22-year-old Saddler would repeat his knockout victory.

It was an action-packed, desperately rough fight, from the opening gong until the final bell, when both left the ring with their faces blood-smeared and punch-puffed.

Pep required 11 stitches — three above each brow, two on his left check and three on his right cheek. Saddler required seven stitches — four on his right and three on his left. In addition Sandy's right eye was swollen, and Pep's right eye was nearly closed.

As Pep finished the bout, the little, hatchet-faced, black-haired Italian from Harford, Conn., seemed to be wearing a mask of pounded steak. He was bleeding from four face cuts and from his nose and mouth. He had been on the verge of a knockout in the 15th round; but, just before the final bell, Willie came fighting back with a flurry of punches that backed Saddler into the ropes and brought the jammed fans to their feet, bellowing wildly for the blood-smeared warrier who unquestionably had regained the crown.

It was a dramatic, electrifying finish of a see-saw fight in which there were no knockdowns but in which each principal was knocked back on his heels again and again.

Saddler, making his first defense of the 126-pound crown he won from Pep, was bewildered by Willie's darting left jab and his elusive footwork in the first three rounds. It was a far faster Pep than the one who had been a slow target for Saddler's long, plumping left jolts and hooks in October.

Butler Cagers Take Surprise Victory, 59-37

BUTLER — Butler revitalized basketball team lowered the boom on a surprised Plymouth high team here last night by a convincing 59-37 score.

Bill Allen, a five-foot eight inch forward who was playing only his third league game of the season, racked up 27 points to set a fast pace for his mates. Four times during the game, Allen scored buckets while being fouled and then added the free throw.

BIG FIRST PERIOD

The first ten seconds was in direct contrast to the rest of the ball game as Plymouth stole two passes to lead 4-0. From there Butler range up 22 points to the Pilgrim's one in the opening quarter.

The game left Butler and Plymouth tied for fifth place in the league with Butler the heavy choice to hold the spot. Butler plays Shiloh next week while Plymouth battles Lexington.

The Pilgrims' Desmond Donnenwirth backed into a tie for the Richland county scoring lead although playing only half the game. He was held to a mere four points but pulled into a deadlock with Ontario's Howard Sunnucks who was held to three.

Coach Vern Cheney's Butlerites made it a clean sweep as they took a reserve thriller by a 22-21 score.

Ohio State Battles Illini Tonight

CHICAGO — (AP) — Illinois, boasting its finest team since the 1943 "whiz kids," tonight will try to hang onto its Big Nine basketball lead with a home floor victory over strong Ohio State.

Ohio State thus far has proven a key club in the title race. The Buckeyes a week ago knocked off Minnesota 48-39 to help Illinois scamper back into the lead.

In the previous meeting between the Illini and Ohio State, at Columbus, the Buckeyes were defeated by one point, 64-63. They figure to give Illinois a rough time tonight at Champaign.

Heading the Bucks' powerful offense are three players who are listed among the top ten scorers of the conference. Bob Raidiger, 6 foot 4 inch center, has 126 points in Ohio States five wins in eight starts; Dick Schnittker, who missed two games because of illness, has 95 and Bob Donham, the other forward, has 74.

Illinois, holding the league lead with a 6-1 mark, is topped by Bill Erickson with 78 points. However, the Illini's strength stems from scoring balance. Dike Eddleman, Wally Osterkorn and Jim Marks combine with Erickson for a deadly sharpshooting line.

Second-place Minnesota, with a 6-2 rating, entertains Iowa (1-5) tonight while third place Michigan (4-2) invades Indiana (2-4) and Wisconsin (1-5) meets Northwestern (1-6) in Chicago stadium Loyola of Chicago tangles with its city rival, De Paul, in the second half of the stadium card. Purdue travels to Michigan State for a non-league engagement.

The Illini will be in a good spot to capture at least a share of the Big Nine crown by defeating Ohio State. In their following games the Illini face Iowa, Northwestern, Indiana and Michigan. At this stage, only Michigan promises real trouble.

Perrysville Admirals Move To Ashland County Finals

Ken Alezzi Draws Bead for Big 70 Against 'A' Team

MARTINS FERRY —(AP)— Yorkville high school's half-pint scoring ace, Ken Alessi, may have established an all-time Ohio scholastic basketball scoring record last night.

The boy, whose feats on the basketball court have brought his team into the limelight of late, made 70 points against Shadyside as Yorkville won 103 to 69.

Playing on an enemy court against a class A team which has won half its games, Alessi garnered 31 field goals and eight points on free throws out of 16 attempts.

The five-foot seven-inch basket-shooting ace was off form at the foul line, but he made up for it from the field. He took only 58 shots at the baskets to make his 31 field goass, and crowded 29 of his points into the fourth quarter.

Alless's total scoring figure in his 26 games to date now stands at 927 for an average of 34.15 per game.

Whippets End Home Season With Triumph

By JOHN PATRICK

SHELBY — Coach Chuck Williams' Shelby Whippets ended their home cage schedule with a fitting climax last night as they came from behind to defeat the Galion Tigers 38 to 32 on the Shelby high gym floor.

In beating the Tigers, the Whippets also avenged an earlier defeat when the Galion basketeers trounced the locals, 48 to 37.

The Tigers started out with a bang. Display flashy ball handling and sharpshooting, it appeared as though it would be an easy victory for the Galion crew as Shelby couldn't get started. However, before the quarter ended the Whippets snapped out of their doldrums and tied up the ball game at 11-11.

Stan Cronenwett opened the second quarter with two baskets in succession to put Shelby out in front but not for long. With the sharp shooting Roy Seif and Fink the Tigers pulled ahead to lead at the half, 21 to 19.

OUTSCORE GALION

The Whippets found themselves in the third quarter and outscored Galion 14 to 6 with Onie, Cronenwett, Clark and Utz handling the scoring. The Tigers appeared to fall apart and lost the ball game in this quarter with ragged ball handling.

In the final period both teams clamped down and played hard defensive ball limiting each other to five points.

Cronenwett was the high scorer for the Whippets with 13 points while Fink and Seil with 12 and 11 points each paced the Tigers.

In the preliminary game, the Shelby reserves won their 13th game in 17 started as they trounced Galion, 40 to 28. Laurence Paine with 17 points was high point man.

Tygers Rip Streaks; Madison Is Kayoed

By FRED THARP
(News-Journal Sports Editor)

SANDUSKY — Mansfield Senior high school today was riding the crest of its longest basketball winning streak of the 1948-49 season.

The tall Tygers poured on the coal after a close opening stanza here last night and raced to a 52-to-34 victory over the Sandusky Blue Streaks. It was the fifth straight victory for Mansfield and gave the Bengals a mark of 11 wins and five losses for the season.

PLAY AT NORWALK

Mansfield is favored to extend the win skein tonight when it invades Norwalk. The Truckers have won only six of 16 games despite the presence of nine lettermen. Last night, Norwalk dropped a 45-to-43 decision at Willard.

Exhibiting some of their best basket work from the court and from the gratis line, the Tygers had a much easier time than expected. Sandusky had won six of 10 and had gained notice in the past few weeks as a spoiler.

None of which seemed to bother the Tygers as they finally emerged victorious by 18 points, the longest margin of the campaign against the Streaks. Coach Vern Hoffman used only seven players in the rout but his No. 6 man—A. C. Jenkins—remained in Mansfield suffering from a "strep" throat. He will also miss tonight's game.

LEAD ONLY ONCE

Sandusky led only once in the game and that at the outset when Bob Seaman connected on two free throws. Then the Tygers took over with eight straight points. Jimmy Anderson dunked a pair of fouls, Ken McCally hit one and Ed Demyan, one. That was all the scoring in the first four minutes.

Big Norb Shibinski banged in a lone pivot shot for the first field goal and Demyan connected on a rebound in 15 seconds. The Streaks narrowed the margin to 14-11 at the quarter and trailed only 15-14 after three minutes of the second period.

A free throw and bunny hit by Anderson and a long shot by Paul Ferguson quickly pulled the Tygers out of danger. Seaman made a foul for the home club. Then in quick fashion Ferguson connected twice from the court and Shibinski tapped in a rebound.

GO 20 AHEAD

So the Tygers led at the half, 26 to 15, and they increased the margin to 38-23 going into the final period. Sandusky tallied five straight points to open the fourth period but Mansfield changed over into a pressing defense and ran up a 48-to-28 lead.

Shibinski had five points in that streak.

Big Norb had one of his better night to pace the Tygers with 16 points while Anderson was held to 12. However, Jimmy was particularly deadly from the foul line, making eight of 11. McCally, soph guard, got 11 points.

Shibinski and Ferguson fouled out in the last four minutes. From the foul line, Mansfield made 14 of 27 and Sandusky only 10 of 31. The Tygers had 19 field goals in 62 attempts and Sandusky 12 of 42.

With Little Cliff Hammer scorching the nets for 16 points, the Senior high sophomore team handed the Sandusky reserves their fourth defeat of the season, 37 to 34.

The Tyger subs of Coach Fred Staub led by quarters, 12 to 6, 21 to 14 and 31 to 28. The Sandusky team is coached by Jeff DeHaven, former Madison mentor.

Forward Esker Jordan made nine of 11 free throws for Mansfield.

By RALPH POSTLEWAITE

A big, powerful Bucyrus basketball team took the measure of hopelessly outclassed Madison last night at the Senior high gym, by a convincing 66-33 margin.

Displaying a fast breaking offense, and a tight, pressing defense, throughout the entire game, the Pesek coached boys posted quarter leads of 13-4, 30-13, and 51-22, and were never headed after the first minute of play.

The game was played before a capacity house of approximately 1,500 partisan fans, the largest crowd ever to witness a Madison home game. The contest served as a preview of the coming sectional, since the drawings have paired these same two teams to meet in the opening game of the tournament.

KIBLER GETS 20

Led by Bill Kibler, a one handed artist who collected 20 points, the Bucyrus boys stamped themselves as the team to beat in the forthcoming sectional. They controlled both boards easily, largely through the outstanding floor play of Paul Katternhenrich, big, rangy center, a recent import from the Columbus South school.

Madison, trying desperately to regain winning ways after three straight losses, found its passing erratic and ineffectual against the closing type of defense thrown against it. The Rams' shooting consisted principally of hurried, off balance attempts, only 12 of 51 connecting from the floor. Brightbill was the only consistent scorer for Blaine Dowler's boys, netting 10 points, 8 of them in the second half.

Kibler started the scoring for Bucyrus with a close in one handed pushup. Madison took time out, and when play was resumed Brightbill went in under the bucket to tie up the game. Katternhenrich came off the pivot to net the tie breaker, and thereafter the final outcome was never in doubt. Madison was held scoreless until the final minute of the quarter when Bader connected from close in to leave Madison trailing 13-4.

BECOMES ROUT

With Distl and Riblet showing the way, the Rams clung within striking distance during the second quarter, leaving the floor, at the half, on the short end of a 30-13 count. But when play resumed Kibler counted quickly with two push shots from the foul circle, and from that point the game progressed into a rout. In the late stages of the fray, Dowler injected his entire reserve team, as did Pesek.

The officials, Larry Swackhammer, referee, and Wetz Harrer, Shelby, umpire, called a total of 31 fouls in a contest that, at times, threatened to become rough. Widman, diminutive Bucyrus forward, was ejected in the fourth quarter on personals. The pressing tactics of Bucyrus, and the determined fighting play of Madison led to an abundance of body contact.

The Bucyrus team, sporting a respectful mark of floor attempts made for the entire season, of slightly better than 33 per cent connected on 29 of 84 tries, for a 30 per cent average. But a great many of their misses last night were of the "set-up" variety.

RESERVES LOSE

Despite a determined second half comeback, the Madison reserves dropped the preliminary game to a taller Bucyrus quintet, 40-31. Led by Witter, who garnered 16 points from the pivot, the Bucyrus boys left the

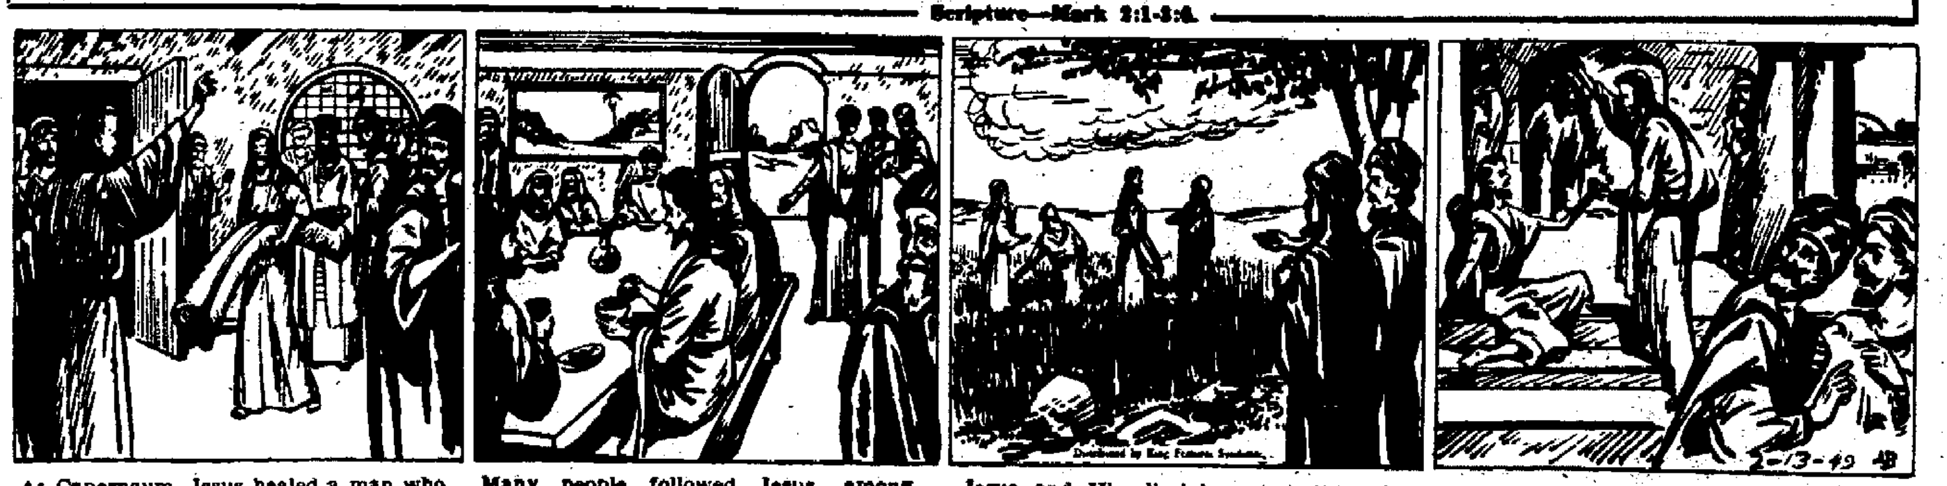
Jesus Faces Opposition

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Mark 2:1-3:6.



Distributed by King Features Syndicate
2-13-49 4B

At Capernaum, Jesus healed a man who was sick with palsy, and after the healing the man took up his bed and walked Certain Scribes objected and accused Jesus of blasphemy because He told the man his sins were forgiven.

Many people followed Jesus, among them publicans and sinners, and He and His disciples ate with them. The Scribes asked the disciples why the Lord ate with such people Jesus said because He came to bring sinners to repentance.

Jesus and His disciples went through grain fields on the Sabbath Day, and as they walked they picked and ate the kernels of grain, but the Pharisees said they were breaking the law, but Jesus defended His disciples.

Entering the synagogue on the Sabbath, Jesus beheld a man with a withered hand, and restored the hand whole, and the Pharisees, angered, took counsel how they might destroy Him.

Pastors See Advantages In Merger

Although there will be no major changes in the programs of the three Mansfield churches involved in the merger of the Christian Congregational and Evangelical and Reformed churches, there will be strategic advantages, Rev. Matthew G. Madden, pastor of the First Congregational church, explained.

"It will mean that we will have a church located at three strategic places in the city—the Mayflower Congregational in the north end, the St. John's downtown and the First Congregational in the west end," he said.

"It will also mean that our total membership is considerably increased."

The First Congregational church has a membership of 733; the Mayflower, 400, and the St. John's more than 700 members. That brings the total for the United Church of Christ to at least 1,833 persons in the city.

Only the St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church will change its name. From now on, it will be known simply as St. John's. However, all three churches will add "of the United Church of Crist" to their stationery.

'STEP FORWARD'

Rev. Arthur F. Lindbeck, pastor of the Mayflower Congregational church thinks it a step forward in the religious movement today.

"It conforms to the spirit of our times," he declared. "Now Protestantism can speak with a united voice. And it may open the way for other churches to come in under the same movement."

Nationally, it means a united front both in missionary and educational work, say the Mansfield pastors. It will save overlapping on both programs and produce a united financial outlay for both missionary and educational programs that should be more effective.

Rev. John C. Melchert of the St. John's declared that his church welcomes the merger because it is in keeping with what Christ said, "That they may all be one."

"In practice the congregations of the two groups are not far apart," Rev. Melchert said. "Ministers and laymen of both traditions have a high regard for congregational freedom. In the interpretation of Christian truth, emphasis on education and concern for the rule of God in human affairs, we are closely akin. In each tradition the minister is given freedom of expression of truth as he sees it. In each tradition one will find fundamentalists, liberalists and those taking the middle of the road."

"It is definitely an advance in the direction Protestant church denominations will be moving to bring about the 'one, holy, universal Christian church' and the brotherhood of man under the Fatherhood of God," he said.

City Bankers At Meeting

The mid-winter meeting of the Ohio Bankers association being held in Columbus today will be attended by at least nine Mansfield banking officials.

Say Primate Was Drugged

VIENNA — (UP) — Western diplomatic experts are studying the reports of two Hungarian refugees who claimed they were employed by Hungarian authorities as handwriting experts and who believed that Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty had been drugged before making statements to the Hungarian government.
